APARTMENTS

1. Elevator is broken customer is in the 11 floor smh, they don't want to meet up at the lobby i had to leave the order in front of the elevator after the 5 minute timer expired
2. hello could anyone tell me how to cancel an order after customer doesn't show up, doesn't pick up the phone and cannot get access to locked secured apartment building and they want it delivered to door
3. Apartment fee plus, tell us beforehand if it's a apartment customer.. I can't stand apartment complexes
4. Just got yelled at for parking in someone's spot at a apt complex. I was there for 3 min max... where do you guys park?
5. I hate apartments
6. UberEats, Doordash, etc should charge customers in apartment buildings more if they won't meet outside, I can't drive 5 mins to your address & another 10 mins waiting for your slow a\*\* elevator or trying to locate your apartment.
7. Why do entitled customers think the world is revolving around them? I work in downtown and I don't tolerate waiting for customers that live in apartments. You are to be aware of where your dasher is at and plan your time ahead to meet me as soon as I arrive, so there will be less time wasted.
8. DD should just ban dashers from getting inside apartments for their personal safety or a big lawsuit is waiting to happen after some incident of kidnapping or God knows what.
9. I don't understand customers who live in key-locked gated apartments and then ask me to leave food at door. "Wait for someone to walk in/out of the complex so you can get in." Do you want your food or not?
10. Apartment Deliveries
11. If you live in a high rise building on a high floor and don't tip... at least meet the Dasher in the lobby or outside. Or do I sound entitled?
12. Are you dropping off an order to the 20th floor or leaving it in the lobby?
13. Took me faster to drive to this apartment building than 4 floors on this elevator
14. Don't even mind coming up to the 35th floor if your elevator looks like this.
15. Doesn't anyone live on the first floor? Asking for a friend.
16. Delivery today to the top floor. Glad they're not all like that.
17. Can I get fired for not delivering an order to someone's 20th floor apt?
18. Does anybody else think apartment dwelling customers should have to meet us on ground floor?
19. maybe i'm stupid but after 1200 orders without having this issue how are you going to tell me the building number and the floor but say there's no apartment number. Does he live in the broom closet??
20. Got this Safeway order, checked the address and it's to an apartment \_\_\_ let us pray it is on the ground floor
21. 90 worth of groceries to top floor of tower . \$30 cash tip
22. Just dragged 50lb of kitty litter to the third floor of a walk up, and got tipped a whole \$0.00
23. I had to deliver to the 13th floor smh I thought it was not 13th in usa wtf
24. Doordash should start including something like "3rd floor or higher" on the offer screen lol
25. Well guys, I have one for the record book.
26. A grocery order to an apartment in the 3rd floor and no elevator.

27. "Delivery instructions: 3rd floor, leave at my door, knock twice and give a coo coo"
28. Skyscrapers
29. Does anyone else hate trying to find one apartment in buildings that have 6 floors & 500 plus apartments with no directions!! Ughhhhhhh Not to mention sitting in a drive thru line for 30 mins
30. 1st Day dashing and realize I hate Walmart. 2nd floor walk-up
31. Appeared to be a normal order....
32. Doordash safety concern AKA nightmare squat (trust your guts and report unsafe situations)
33. Took my first Walmart run today and DD decided to stack a double and I didn't pay close attention. 2nd order was 3 cases of water to 7th floor apartment
34. Just had a weird delivery. Last order, midnight, second floor of a house. I open the door, stairs to my right and dark empty room to my right cracked open 1 foot. I start going up the stairs and the customer sneaked up behind me from the dark empty room and said "I'll take that" scared tf out of me
35. Customer lives on 2nd floor, there was an opossum staring me down so I left it at bottom. Got a 1 star review, what would you have done?
36. of course I went the wrong way carrying a big ass grocery order on the top floor
37. They wanted me to hand them the order. Instructions were "hand it to me at door 412" Already made it to the 4th floor. Not playing this game of find the customer at which elevator. So I just dropped it there and snapped a pic. You can't tell me I'm wrong.
38. Apartment Complexes mostly 3rd floors...why?
39. Do you go up into hotels, college dorms or anything above the 1st floor?
40. well just dropped my first order... Not saying people are obligated to meet the Dasher at the ground floor but I would if it was me.
41. I Expected to Climb Stairs to the 3rd Floor, But this Sadistic Place Wants you to Go Down Then Back Up
42. Has anyone delivered to a hospital before?
43. What do you hate more? Apartments or Houses right on a main road?
44. Asking customer to help bring groceries up stairs in apartment??
45. Biggest Pet Peeve
46. No I will not bring your order to your 23rd floor hotel room for no tip
47. Why is it that the only people who order food are either on the top floor with no stairs or the furthest room in a hotel hallway
48. Ok so the base pay isn't too bad, almost $2 per mile. But 98 fucking items! Are you kidding me? Imagine how long that would take to unload at the house. Or even worse apartment that isn't on the first floor. No thanks! That's what instacart is for. Gotta pay me alittle more than $13 to lug all that.
49. Apartment fee
50. 3rd Floor apartment. 20 doors down the hall. Doesn't list gate code. Doesn't tip. Doesn't answer. The order that brought me to Reddit for tips/tricks. #NewDasher
